

Abstract of the Invention

There is provided a method for treating diseases such as fibromyalgia and diabetic neuropathy by the topical application of a composition comprising plant extracts. The composition contains a lymphatic activity or and a mobilizer of white blood cell activity and a vasodilator.